Everything You Need to Know About Palmer Ranch

While some may think they know all there is to know about Palmer Ranch, we've hundreds of new residents on the ranch who may not be so familiar with the inner workings of the area, hence we feature this educational series every month. This month, we'll be learning the interesting history of how Palmer Ranch became to be the beautiful community we know today.

Bertha Honore Palmer

The 7,000± acre development, known as Palmer Ranch, was created as a model of contemporary planning and environmental sensitivity. The property is part of a legacy of a remarkable turn-of-the-century woman: Mrs. Bertha Honore Palmer. In addition to her significant contributions to Sarasota, Mrs. Palmer's achievements were many.

After her husband's death in 1902, Mrs. Palmer's influence was felt in the little-known town called Sarasota. She first visited the area in 1910, declaring that it was "the most beautiful place in Florida." Her impressions were published throughout the country, causing a local real estate boom. At a time when most women of her age and social standing were content to play parlor games, she purchased 80,000 acres of land in Sarasota, and was involved in agriculture, livestock, real estate, banking, and tourism. Mrs. Palmer had a profound love for the natural beauty of Florida. She would have been proud to know that, after her death in 1918, much of her land has been preserved as state parks, nature preserves and quality development.

Hugh Culverhouse, Sr. purchased the remaining 12,000 acres from the Palmer estate in 1972. He shared Mrs. Palmer's love of the land and created the Palmer Ranch community. Mr. Culverhouse's dream continues to evolve through his son, Hugh F. Culverhouse, Jr. Palmer Ranch has received state and national recognition as an exemplary community and a model of state-of-the-art planning.

The Master Association is still receiving several calls and emails daily relating to the condition of the roads, along with other roadway-related complaints. For our new residents, the roadways on Palmer Ranch are not maintained by the Master Association. The roads outside of your communities are maintained by Sarasota County. Palmer Ranch Master Association is only responsible for the landscaping within the medians and roadsides. Should you have a roadway-related complaint, please call the Sarasota County Call Center at (941) 861-5000

I know that some of you feel that it is the Master Association's responsibility to levy these complaints, however we've learned over the years that the Master Association is only one voice. If you get your neighbors and community to call one at a time, then the "the squeaky wheel gets the grease" metaphor prevails, as Sarasota County takes notice of the number of complaints they get.

In the meantime, see pictures below of what "one squeaky wheel" was able to accomplish. The pictures are of repairs that were made to numerous potholes on Central Sarasota Parkway, just west of McIntosh Road.

21ST ANNUAL STONEYBROOK G & CC WALK -N- TALK

Benefiting the Veterans Program at Southeastern Guide Dogs

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 2024

Sign-In Starts 8:00am-8:30am at Clubhouse Front Entrance. Walk Starts at 8:45am Breakfast and Speaker at 9:15am

THERE WILL BE A SPECIAL GUEST AND HIS SPECIAL COMPANION AT THIS YEAR'S EVENT.

Through Veteran Services at Southeastern Guide Dogs, Army Veteran Russell Smith and his service dog Mustang are now a team in his effort to overcome PTSD. Russell served eight years in the Army and was deployed twice to Iraq. An accomplished trumpet player, Russell was assigned an additional duty to play Taps at all too frequent memorials. The sound of exploding IEDs and mortar attacks were a constant reminder that he would, once again, be playing Taps for a fallen friend in arms. After Russell's discharge, the lingering effects of post-traumatic stress kept him isolated and hyper-alert with frequent and severe anxiety attacks. "I arrived at the Southeastern Guide Dogs campus nervous and stressed. Enter Mustang!! He completely changed my life. Mustang has my back and is always there for me." Come meet U.S Army Veteran Russell Smith and Mustang to hear Russell's life changing journey.
